The Inaugural Function of Better English Association was held on Tuesday, 09 – 11-2020. Dr. Mrs. Pranjali Kane, Assistant Professor, Shri. Binzani City College, Sakkardara, Nagpur was the Guest Speaker for the function who spoke on a very significant issue of communication: 'Conflicts Young Vs Adults'. In her inaugural address, she emphasised on the issues that have been a part of communication process but somehow overcome by other parameters. There are adults at home or around everywhere that really create an effect on the process of communication, one of the aspects of communication that is not considered mostly.

A very proper feature of communication is also the tone of the speaker and it creates different impressions. Communication from Parents to Children or vice versa both are important and we as grown ups should never take the superior side. A known individual too should be talked in a suitable way and following better manners rather than taking it as a casual happening. Meaning of words change according to culture, region language, she mentioned categorically. She also talked on the issues of miscommunication and explained in a simple manner to the students how even friends talking to each other may acquire unintended meanings. Hearning and Listening are two different things and it is our choice to pick the right one when we converse. The more attentively communication is attended, more good it becomes and weeds out the meanings which we do not even intend. We should be sympathetic to everyone we share words, she emphasised. She shared a powepoint presentation and had a fruitful interaction with the participant students.

Dr. Shailesh Bahadure, Head, Department of English briefed the participants about Better English Association and activities conducted by the department. Dr. Mrs. Priti Singh compeered the programme while a formal vote of thanks was proposed by Ms. Anita Tirpude. Mr. Manoj Andraskar looked after the online arrangement and operations of the programme.
