Food is a major issue in India. People who come to state hospitals and other public health services for help are generally from the poor section of the society. They cannot afford to buy food on a regular basis. Hospitals are the place which gives new life to people. Patients come with problems and leave after getting proper treatment and getting cured. But during this time, we often see that the patients and their close ones go through a great deal of trouble. Often in the not so developed parts of the society, we can see how a hospital gets overcrowded as people from all over the area rush to it, either to save their loved ones or cure some of their ailment.

It is that when the face several issues other than medical ones. They face the issue of food and shelter. Often, we see that the family members of the patient spending the night on the pavements of the road or under whatever little shelter they get. They face scarcity of food. There is only a fixed amount of time a person can withstand hunger before they lose their sanity. So, often hospitals provide free food services for both the patients and their caretakers. The need for food has increased significantly since the COVID-19 pandemic began. In order to help the needy ones, Social Outreach cell of Dr. Ambedkar College, Deekshabhoomi, Nagpur had organized a “Food Distribution Activity to the Outsider Patient Relatives at Government Medical College (GMC), Nagpur” on dated 22nd April 2022 at 10:00am.
