REPORT ON GUEST LECTURE: CONTENT WRITING

RESOURCE PERSON: MS. PARUL KOTHARI, Freelance Content Writer | IELTS / PTE Mentor TOPIC OF THE

LECTURE: CONTENT WRITING AS CAREER OPTION FOR ELT STUDENTS Date: 14 MARCH 2022

NUMBER OF PARTICIPANTS: 64: FEMALES: 39: MALES: 25

A Guest Lecture on 'Content Writing As Career Option for ELT Students' was organized by the Department of English via online mood on Google Meet platform on Monday, 14th March 2021. The objective of the program was to make students equipped with how to organize thoughts in a systematic way in write-ups, articles, blogs, social media, posts and other digital contents.

The guest speaker for the program was Ms. Parul Kothari, an Alumna of Dr. Ambedkar College Deekshabhoomi, Nagpur. The program commenced with an introductory speech by Dr. Shailesh Bahadure, Head of the Department of English, DACN. In his talk, he said that he is always in search of new topics and Content Writing is a fine option. Content writing has a great career options for the ELT/literature students. It is a good practice to know about such important aspects from the expert like Ms. Parul Kothari. He said he is much happy that the alumna of our college is conducting the session for the students. It is really a proud moment for him and the department too.

Ms. Parul Kothari, in her lecture said content writing is more than a storywriting. We see content in our daily life like blogs on different topics like beauty, skincare, fashion, styling and digital updates. Content writing can lead to a great career in the present times. One should follow steps like selecting genre which is of our taste. Secondly, reading plays very important role in content writing as it gives us matter to write. One must find a comfortable zone in order to concentrate on how certain descriptions can be decorated in a perfect manner. Ms. Parul Kothari shared her own area of interest as Digital Marketing in content writing.

Talking about writing skills, she said basic language and a good command over grammar is must as wide range of audience is reading the write-ups. She suggested that a content writer doesn't need to be creative but fascinating. One must join social media groups on content writing, updating Facebook account daily, advertising oneself by presenting skills. She concluded her lecture by saying that a content writer must be more enthusiastic towards gaining knowledge and learn every day to excel at what one can do.

Ms. Parul Kothari talk has been extremely insightful and informative. A lively question answer session followed after her discourse. The whole program was conducted by the students of MA Final year like compering by Mr. Ajit Andhare, introduction of the guest by Ms. Rituparna Dudey and a formal vote of thanks was proposed by Ms. Shilpa Raut.

More than sixty students from Undergraduate and Post graduate departments were present. On this occasion, Ms. Anita Tirpude, Mr. Manoj Andraskar, Ms Rupali Bhawe, Ms. Devyani Sharma and Mr. Dilip Rathod were also present.

The image shows a Zoom meeting interface. On the left, a large video window displays Shilpa Raut, a woman with long dark hair wearing a light green button-down shirt, speaking. Below her name are icons for mute, video off, and a minus sign. At the bottom left, the text "Guest Lecture on Content Writing" is visible. To the right of the main video is a gallery of smaller video windows for other participants: "You" (a man in a green shirt), "arita tirpude" (a woman in a blue and red top), "Ajit Anchara" (a man in a green shirt), and "Parul Kothari" (a woman in a white top). Below the gallery is a circular icon with a blue 'A' and the text "42 others". On the far right is the "In-call messages" panel, which has a close button (X) in the top right. It contains a toggle switch for "Let everyone send messages" which is turned on. Below this is a note: "Messages can be seen only by people in the call and are deleted when the call ends." The message history includes: "ritu dubey 11:56 Thank you mam", "ritu dubey 11:59 Yes mam definitely", "Aniket Taklikar 12:07 Parul mam You were talking too early 😊😊", and "SHAILESH BAHADURE 12:08 THANK YOU VERY MUCH PARUL FOR BEING THERE WITH US... DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH OWE YOU SINCERE THANKS... IT WAS AN EARNEST DELIVERY...". At the bottom of the messages panel is a text input field with "ge" and a send button. The bottom of the Zoom interface features a toolbar with icons for mute, video off, gallery view, a menu, and a red end call button. On the right side of the toolbar, there are icons for info, participants (with a '47' badge), chat, screen sharing, and a lock icon.

EXPERT LECTURE ON “BASIC REQUIREMENT OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTIES”

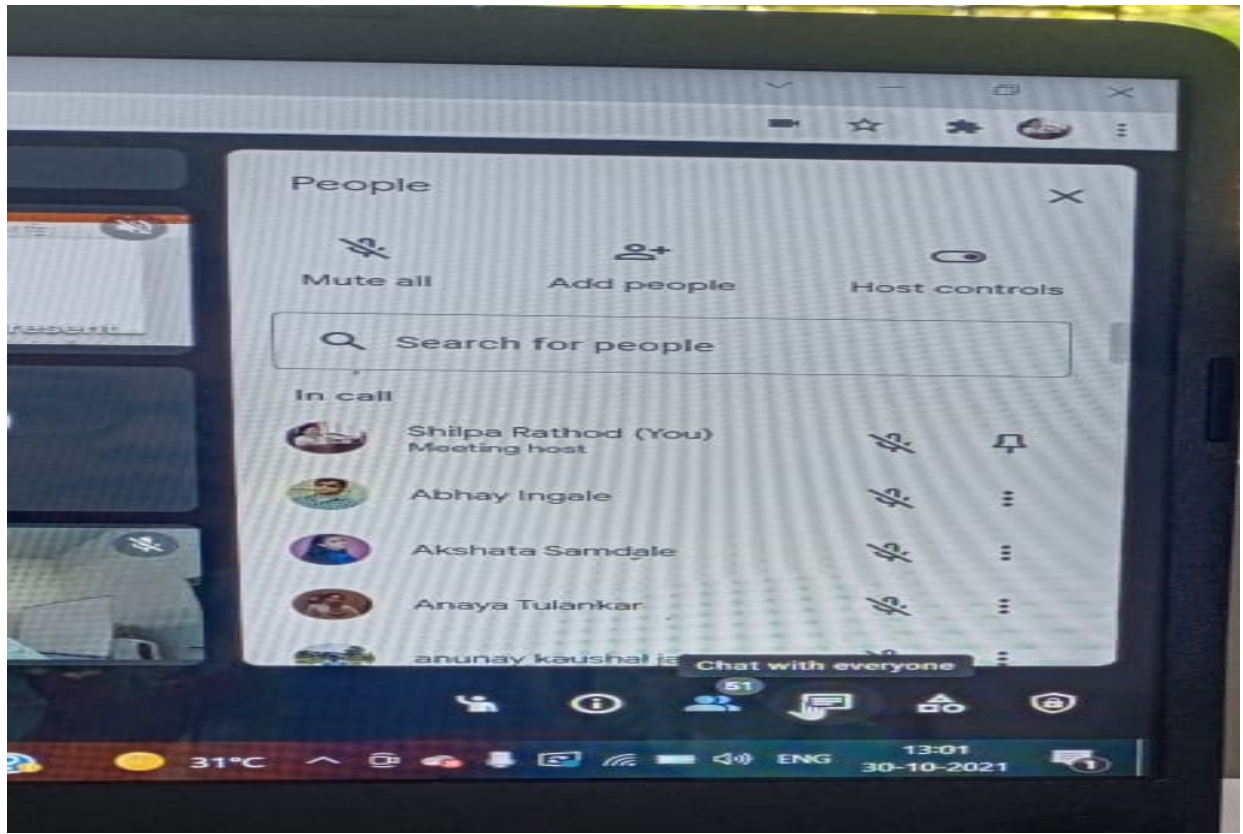

The Department of Law, of Dr. Ambedkar College, Deeksha Bhoomi Nagpur, has organized an expert lecture on Basic requirement of Intellectual Properties.

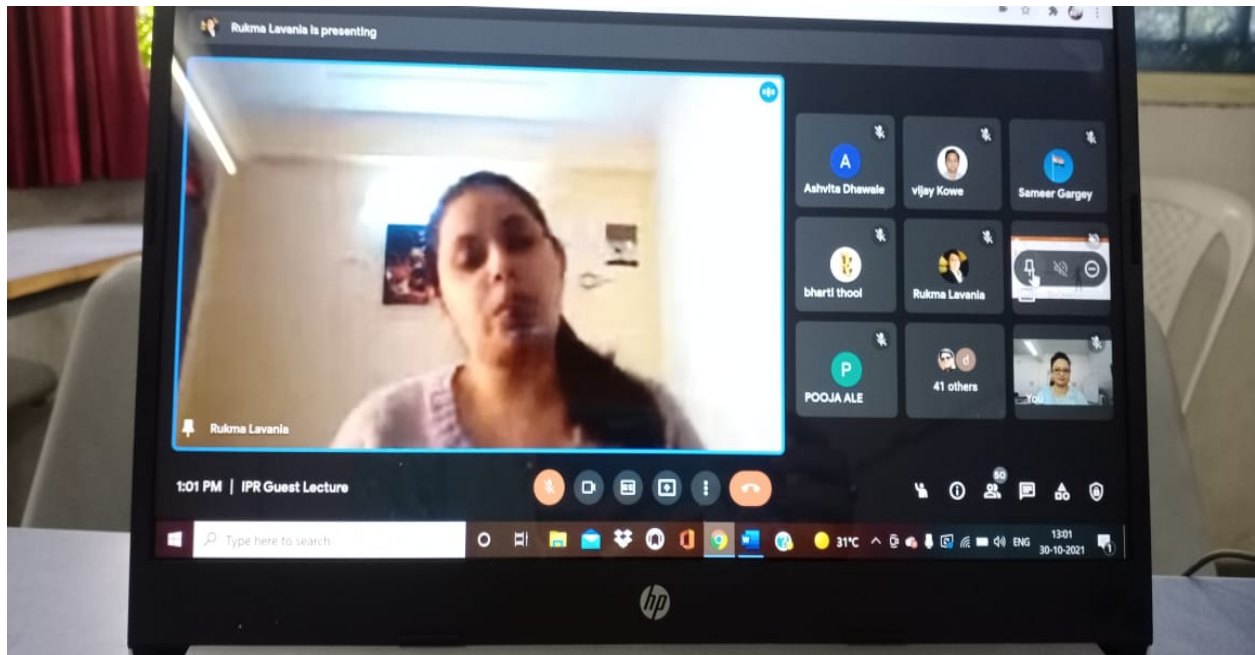

The program commenced with the introductory remark on the primary objectives behind organising the expert Lecture.

Ms Rukma Lavania, Assistant Professor UPES School Of Law, Dehradun delivered the lecture on the topic “Basic requirement of Intellectual Properties”. She enlightened the students regarding different forms of properties available in tangible form and explained how intellectual properties come under the domain of intangible property. She attempted to define intellectual property as that kind of property which we earn by using human intellect and therefore it is a by-product of human brain.

She lucidly explained the essential conditions required for trademark, Copyright and Patents. She emphatically explains the concept of originality in the domain of copy right and the design law. She elaborately discussed the different forms of Intellectual properties and its subject matter for claiming protection by throwing the light on different legislation which has been enacted for providing protection to these intellectual Properties. She gave the live examples of intellectual properties based on the daily life in order to enhance the cognitive domain of understanding of the students on the subject. She further discussed the terms of protection granted to the different forms of intellectual properties.

Around 51 participants were present in the programme. The Programme was compared, conducted and concluded by proposing vote of thanks by Ms. Shilpa Rathod under the guidance & supervision of Dr. Mrs. H.V. Menon Professor and Head of Department.

Report of Workshop on “Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) & Patents and Design Filing”

The workshop on "Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) & Patents and Design Filing" was organized on April 28th, 2022 at Dadasaheb Kumbhare Auditorium, Dr. Ambedkar College, which is located on the sprawling premises of Deekshabhoomi, Nagpur. The event was organized in the honor of Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav by the Institutional Innovation Council of Dr. Ambedkar College, Deekshabhoomi, Nagpur in association with Rajiv Gandhi National Institute of Intellectual Property Management (RGNIPM) Government of India, Nagpur. It was a part of the National Intellectual Property Awareness Mission (NIPAM). The event started at 1 PM. The speaker Dr. Bharat N. Suryawanshi, the Assistant Controller of Patents & Designs RGNIPM Nagpur, was welcomed by Dr. Utpal Dongre, Assistant Professor and Head Department of Biochemistry and Biotechnology, DACN. Dr. Utpal Dongre was welcomed by Mr. Pradip Hirapure, Assistant Professor. The principal Prof. Dr. Mrs. B.A. Mehere was welcomed by Dr. Deovrat Begde, Assistant Professor and coordinator of Institutional Innovation Council of the college. The event commenced with the illumination of candles and incense by the honorable guest. Following the illumination ceremony, the dignitaries assumed their seats. The guests were introduced by Assistant Professor Ms. Rita Lakkakul.

The starting speech, delivered by the principal, addressed the importance of IPR awareness. This was followed by the start of the workshop by Dr. Bharat Suryawanshi, where he introduced the audience to intellectual property (IP) as any idea that originates from one's mind. He further explained that the Indian Constitution has provisions in the legislature for protecting one's intellectual property. He continued by explaining that one of the ways for protecting IP is patent filing, which entails that the owner of an IP can exclude others from selling, using, or manufacturing said IP for a stipulated period of time contingent on their disclosure of the details of the IP, so that a fellow expert can execute it.

Dr. Suryawanshi then elucidated the steps to file for a patent or a design. He exemplified IPR and patents that were filed by the faculty present there. He concluded by sharing some of his professional experiences and encouraged the audience to be more creative and aware of their rights. Around 80 to 100 people attended the seminar and submitted feedback for the event.

On

Topic: “Scientific Expedition into the Forces of Immune System to Fight Infections”

A Report

Department of Biochemistry and Biotechnology, Dr. Ambedkar College, Deekshabhoomi, Nagpur organized an online International Conference entitled, “Scientific Expedition into the forces of Immune System to Fight Infections” on 27th August, 2021 on Zoom platform and the conference streamed live on YouTube. The guest speakers for three sessions were Dr. Shilpa Rao, Research Associate, Molecular Biosciences, University of Texas, USA, Dr. Pranay Dogra, Senior Scientist, Oncology Biomarker development, Genentech, San Francisco, CA and Dr. Vijay Upadhye, Associate Professor and Deputy Director, Research and Development Cell, Parul University, Vadodra. The conference began with the welcome address by the Principal, Dr. Mrs. B. A. Mehere, Dr. Ambedkar College, Deekshabhoomi, Nagpur followed by introduction to the program by Dr. Deovrat Begde, Organizing secretary, of the conference and Assistant Professor, Department of Biochemistry and Biotechnology, Dr. Ambedkar College, Nagpur.

Lecture 1: The first guest lecture was delivered by Dr. Shilpa Rao who was introduced to the participants by Mrs. Shweta Paranjape, Assistant Professor, Department of Biochemistry and Biotechnology, Dr. Ambedkar College, Deeksha Bhoomi, Nagpur. Dr. Rao delivered her lecture on the topic "Genes with 5' terminal oligopyrimidine tracts preferentially escape global suppression of translation by SARS Cov-2 Nsp-1 protein". In her lecture she explained about the nature of genetic material of SARS-Cov-2, how viruses use multiple mechanisms to block host mRNA translation. She explained about the effects of Nsp 1 protein expression on global translation and mRNA abundance. She also introduced various assay techniques to measure protein synthesis, mRNA abundance, ribosomal profiling and different ways to identify gene specific translational changes. She emphasized how Nsp-1 mediates preferential translation of TOP transcripts in perturbed upon mTOR pathway. In the end Dr. Shilpa Rao highlighted future perspectives for the research she conducted.

The lecture was very informative and interactive. She answered all the queries of the participants.

One query from a participant was as below:

Did the overexpression of elongation factors of translation of TOP mRNAs will not lead to the upregulation of translation?

to answer this query Dr. Rao explained the paradox about how Nsp-1 allows preferential translation of translation machinery but these cannot be used by the host mRNA because of binding of Nsp-1 protein, only the virus is evolved to replace these proteins and can use this machinery for their own and also through the degradation of host mRNA also virus suppresses the host translation.

Lecture 2 - Topic: Learnings from Monitoring Immune response to COVID-19 in Children and Adults by Dr. Pranay Dogra

Dr. Pranay Dogra is an immunologist with a strong background in T- and NK-cell biology, and has significant experience in implementation of bioinformatics techniques for the analysis of high-dimensional datasets. He possesses immense knowledge of virology, immunology, and programming skills and is focused more on the development of new and potent cell-based immunotherapies. The session began with the welcome and introduction of Dr. Dogra to all the participants by Ms. Rita Lakkakul, Assistant Professor, Department of Biochemistry and Biotechnology, Dr. Ambedkar College, Deekshabhoomi, Nagpur. Dr. Dogra spoke about vulnerability of SARS-CoV-2 in present pandemic situation and emphasised that all the researchers need to stand up as united research community to uncover the secrets of the deadly coronavirus so that patients can be treated effectively and we can be prepared better for future variants of coronavirus. He highlighted more on characterizing immune response to SARS-CoV-2 and his studies on children having lower neutralizing antibodies than adults. He also explained the importance of T-Cells which will help us in future treatment strategies for the disease. He also emphasized that all the students should learn Bioinformatics and coding analysis to help them excel in research. The lecture was highly informative and students interacted by asking their queries to Dr. Pranay Dogra.

Query from Participant: What is your suggestion about analysing longevity of protection against SARS-Cov-2, by checking airway immune response or blood immune response?

Answer: Airway immune response because the active immune response is seen in airway.

Query from Participant: As surface markers (spike protein) to which antibody response is more then how could we predict based on nucleocapsid the severity of disease or infection pattern?

Answer: It doesn't tell the severity but it tells the previous history. Severe and non-severe covid both have same amount of nucleocapsid.

Lecture 3: Topic: Role of Interferon –gamma release assay in detection of latent TB infection by Dr. Vijay Upadhye.

Dr. Vijay Upadhye was the third guest speaker and he was introduced and welcomed by Pradip Hirapure, Joint secretary of the conference and Assistant Professor, Department of Biochemistry and Biotechnology to deliver the lecture. Dr. Upadhye explained the principle and mechanism of IGRA test and its application in the diagnosis of latent tuberculosis, he very well described the significance and limitation of this Assay. Overall this lecture was very informative and easy to understand for everyone. During this lecture Dr. Vijay Upadhye emphasized things like an in vitro blood test based on IGRA with antigens specific for M tuberculosis can also be used to screen for latent TB infection and offers certain advantages over tuberculin skin testing. The lecture was informative and interactive as the participants asked queries related to Multidrug resistance nature of M tuberculosis and its possible treatment.

Query from participant : Is there any single globally accepted test for diagnosis of Tuberculosis and what kind of lifestyle will be helpful in preventing TB infection. Dr. Vijay Upadhye positively answered each question in detail.

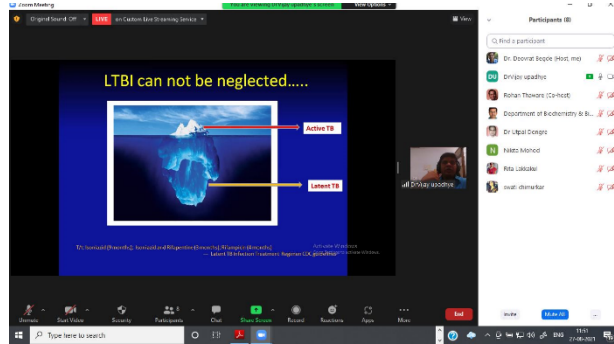

Huge number of students actively participated in the conference and very well interacted with all the guest speakers by asking various questions followed by patient listening and answering the queries by all the three guest speakers. The conference concluded by vote of thanks which was proposed by Dr. Utpal Dongre, Head of the Department, Department of Biochemistry and Biotechnology, Dr. Ambedkar College, Deekshabhoomi, Nagpur. He congratulated all the members of the organising Committee and encouraged participants to attend more virtual platforms, the new normal, to connect and self-aware during the pandemic.

Report

In order to mark the celebration of National Education Day (11th November) the Institutional Innovation Council (IIC) Internal Quality Assurance Cell of Dr. Ambedkar College in collaboration with HRD cell organized a Capacity Building Workshop on “How and Why to design New Courses to deliver effective outcome as envisioned in NEP 2020” on October 29, 2021 at 2:30 PM. Guest Speaker for this workshop was Dr. C. V. Chalapati Rao, Ex Chief Scientist, NEERI, Nagpur. The Program was planned early to the National Education Day due to the Diwali Vacations announced by the University. The program was conducted by Dr. Deovrat Begde who also introduced the faculties of the college about the workshop. The workshop started with paying tribute to Dr. Ambedkar and Tathagat Gautam Buddha by garlanding their potraits. Prof. Dr. B. A. Mehere, Chairperson of the program welcomed Dr. C. V. Chalapati Rao by presenting him a sapling. Dr. Mehere then expressed her views on National Education Policy 2020. She emphasized the effective implementation of NEP 2020 by higher education institutes and teachers.

Dr. Deovrat Begde introduced the speaker Dr. C. V. Chalapati Rao to the gathering and invited him to present his talk.

Dr. Rao started his talk, informing the gathering about the need of new courses in NEP 2020. He informed them that the new courses are required for outcome based education which focuses more on practical and vocational aspects of courses. He also added that the necessity of outcome based education is required for making Bharat Atmanirbharta by removing the gap between education and industry. He encouraged teachers to develop a multi-disciplinary system as the college has both science and liberal arts as major subjects of study. He also pointed out that Dr. Ambedkar College has all the disciplines which can be interconnected to create new outcome based education.

Dr Rao pointed out that NAP 2020 is an unavoidable policy which is definitely going to be implemented one day or another therefore educational institutes like Dr. Ambedkar College must emphasize on research based teaching and entrepreneurship development programs in the college. Dr. Rao appreciated the Lab to Land initiative by the college to help the farmer and encouraged the staff for coming up with such innovative ideas. He suggested that private companies nowadays do not look for employees with only good degrees but also ability and will to deliver.

He emphasized that teachers should focus on answering 'Why' they want to create new courses in NEP 2020. Apart from teaching, research and entrepreneurship development are also very important aspects of higher education. As most of the colleges will become autonomous colleges the teachers will have the choice to mix up research and teaching in their workload. To answer the question of lack of faculty, cluster colleges can be made and learning could be a hybrid mode that is both digital and physical.

He also informed that Academic Bank of Credits is a student centric policy which makes teachers deliver good performance. The upcoming time will be age of super specialization, the teacher must include all these aspects in order to develop such programs that can be job oriented. The ideas of multi entry, multi exit, life skills and other skill based education are from China, he pointed out. He also suggested that the biggest hurdles in implementation of NEP 2020 is the teacher's mindset, as they don't want change.

Talking about how the new programs can be created under NEP 202 he said that people are already practicing interdisciplinary and trans disciplinary curriculums in colleges. The teachers should always think in terms of theme based programs, for example courses on Pandemic management which could be easily multidisciplinary courses. Teachers and institutions should also take into consideration the 17 goals of sustainable development stated by the UN. The National Association of Universities has realized that these 17 goals should be reached by India. Dr. Rao suggested multidisciplinary courses like Evolution and Universe, City's culture and social issues, Science and arts, Poverty, Unemployment and Population explosion etc. He stated that whatever problems are in front of teachers can be converted into a course. He pressed on asking questions to oneself as a teacher. That is in your own area what that one thing is if you do will change the complete scenario of the field. He closed his talk with his own experience when a scientist from some foreign country visited India to give his insights about some construction projects. He asked Dr. Rao that you have temples standing for thousands of years, why did you call me to guide you for this water treatment plant? Pointing out that the country is full of potentials which should be utilized. Dr. Deovrat Begde proposed votes of thanks and the program was concluded.
