Successful communication helps us better understand people and situations. It helps us overcome diversities, build trust and respect, and create conditions for sharing creative ideas and solving problems. Sir also discussed about four types of communication, but he believed that there are actually five types of communication: verbal, non-verbal, written, listening, and visual. Sir also focused on that communication serves five major purposes: to inform, to express feelings, to imagine, to influence, and to meet social expectations. Each of these purposes is reflected in a form of communication. Sir talked about the major uses of communication like helps builds relationships, teamwork, and trust. It also helps to develop our knowledge base, which helps us to make better life choices. Effective communication builds interpersonal relationships, at home and at work, helps us to understand people, overcome diversities, and clarify situations.

Sir talked about the 7 “C’s: According to the 7 Cs, communication needs to be:

Clear. Concise. Concrete. Correct. Coherent. Complete. Courteous.
