Report on Mentoring Sessions Conducted by the Department of Commerce for B.Com Students

The Department of Commerce, under the guidance of Dr. Varsha Panbude, Head of the Department, successfully organized comprehensive mentoring sessions for B.Com students with the objective of offering personalized guidance and support in their academic, personal, and professional development. These sessions were conducted twice during the academic year—once in the odd semester and once in the even semester—ensuring a consistent and sustained mentorship experience for the students. A total of 288 students were covered in these sessions.

The mentoring initiative was supported by a dedicated team of faculty members, including Dr. Mrs. Varsha Panbude, Dr. Durga Puttewar, Dr. Vaishali Fating, Dr. Akhil Ramteke, Mr. Ankit Pusadkar, Mr. Purvesh Fating, Dr. Dashrath Wasnik, Ms. Nidhi Nakhale, Ms. Nanda Yadav, Ms. Rasika Bawankar, and Ms. Pooja Kamble. Each mentor played a crucial role in addressing the specific needs of their assigned mentees, creating a safe and nurturing environment for open dialogue and meaningful exchanges.

The first session of the mentoring program primarily focused on understanding the interests and aspirations of the students. Discussions were centered around academic goals, personality development, career planning, and various skill-building opportunities. Mentees were encouraged to carry out a detailed self-assessment by identifying their Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Challenges (SWOC). This exercise not only fostered self-awareness but also allowed the mentors to tailor their guidance in alignment with the individual profiles of the students. Some mentors took the initiative to extend the scope of the session by addressing concerns related to mental health and emotional well-being, acknowledging the growing relevance of psychological support in a student's holistic development.

Throughout the mentoring process, students actively brought forth a range of academic and personal concerns. Issues such as examination stress, lack of concentration, uncertainties about career options, and challenges in soft skills were openly discussed. In some cases, students confided in their mentors about personal struggles that were hindering their academic performance or self-confidence. These discussions underscored the importance of creating a confidential and non-judgmental space for students to express themselves freely.

Mentors responded effectively to the needs of the students by offering practical solutions, motivational strategies, and resource-based guidance. Students who were struggling with specific subjects received scholastic support, while those uncertain about their career paths were provided with detailed information regarding further studies, professional courses and emerging job opportunities in various sectors. In addition to academic and career counseling, the sessions emphasized the significance of soft skills and personal grooming. Mentors shared various techniques for personality development and stressed the importance of habits such as time management, consistent study routines, goal-setting, and self-discipline in achieving a balanced lifestyle.

An essential highlight of the mentoring program was the provision of ongoing support. Students were not only guided during the designated sessions but were also encouraged to stay in touch with their mentors for continuous support and advice as and when required. This dynamic relationship between mentor and mentee greatly enhanced the overall impact of the program and reinforced a culture of trust and mutual respect.

Psychological support was another important dimension of the mentoring sessions. In instances where students displayed signs of emotional distress or mental health issues, the mentors provided empathetic listening and appropriate psychological guidance. This inclusive approach ensured that no student felt isolated or neglected, regardless of the nature of their concern.

In conclusion, the mentoring sessions conducted by the Department of Commerce were a significant step towards fostering a supportive academic environment and nurturing the holistic development of B.Com students. The enthusiastic participation of students and the dedicated involvement of faculty mentors made the initiative both impactful and meaningful. These sessions not only empowered students to take charge of their academic and professional journeys but also equipped them with the resilience and confidence needed to face future challenges. The success of this mentoring program stands as a testament to the department's commitment to student welfare and excellence in education.
